Saving and Credit Cooperative Societies (SACCOS) is a financial cooperative that aimed at meeting the financial needs of all members men/women, old/young, rich/poor in particular, by encouraging them savings and granting loans to the members. It belongs to its members who manage it democratically. All SACCOS's members should have saving account in their organizations. This is a rule for joining in any SACCOS.

SACCOS plays very important role in socioeconomic development of members and communities in general as SACCOS enables easy access to financial services to people. It also encourages savings, creates employment opportunities and supports directly community development effort to get access to social services, and stimulates growth of business. SACCOS also helps members to improve their income and living conditions.

If SACCOS are well managed, it becomes possible to play such social and economic roles to the members and have spiral effects to the community development process. As a result, they will be able to achieve the social economic expectations of members.

However some SACCOS as they proceed with their operations they face various obstacles which prevent them fulfilling their visions and expectation in which many people have affected.

On the other hand, SACCOS faces some problems which hinder government efforts in bringing development to its members. The problems like poor management, theft, embezzlement, dishonest among SACCO's members as well as inadequate funds have greatly affected many SACCOS according to the auditors' reports.
